Business Editors & Health/Medical Writers, 16 Jan 2003

READING, Mass.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Jan. 16, 2003--HealthWyse announced today that it is now shipping an enhanced point of care application utilizing the new Microsoft Tablet PC. HealthWyse is the first provider of Home Care and Hospice Information Solutions to enable customers to take advantage of the versatility of the Microsoft Tablet PC. HealthWyse now offers a complete choice and mixture of platforms to optimize each clinicians' requirements for use in the patient's home, from telephony to the handheld Pocket PC to any device running Windows XP, including the newest Microsoft Tablet. Clinicians visiting with patients have complete access to the entire clinical record and can complete their documentation in the home using handwriting recognition, drop down menus or a keyboard. Faster, more accurate information gathered at point of care translates into faster billing and better financial management.

"The Microsoft Tablet PC demonstrates our versatility and ability to give our customers the widest choice in the industry for point of care devices." said Andrew Braunstein, CTO.

"HealthWyse continues to lead the industry on providing the best tools for each person in the organization to use to accomplish their part in patient care."
